named "Happy Fellow" and "Khayam." Crosby has no particular reason for the names. Every day he plans to ride the scooter from his home at Kaalawai to the beach, clad in a pair of batik shorts and a grey sweat-shirt. He prefers the cool comfort of his scooter to a car, he says.

After parking the small vehicle, Crosby engaged in a game of volleyball with the boys on the beach. After that he went surfing, but decided to try tandem first. He says surfing doesn't tire his arms, but his back gets sore.
